BEAUTY AT THE FESTIVAL.*Elpaal Society Attracts a Gay Crowd of Young People.

A large party of young people attended the lawn party last night given by the Elpaal Society of the First Baptist Church on the vacant lot on Roanoke street adjoining the Baptist parsonage. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated with colored Japanese lanterns, locomotive headlights and pretty shade lamps. The refreshment tables were handsomely decorated and contained all kinds of dainties, which were served to eager customers by a number of Roanoke's fair young ladies.

The fruit table was under the management of Miss Rosa Cutchin and Miss Agnes Stone. Other tables were presided over by Misses Turner, Annie Deaton, of Lynchburg; Bickers, Roal, Oaks, Nininger, Kate Firey, Bessie Firey and Knepp and were centers of groups of young men all the evening. There was a gypsy camp presided over by Miss Bertha Muir where one could get their fortune unfolded at a small charge. One of the most popular and amusing features of the entertainment was the postoffice where every one could get letters for a nickel. Miss Annie Deaton and Sallie Oaks were the postmistresses and they did a thriving business all the evening.

At a late hour the festival closed and the managers found a considerable sum in the treasury. The entertainment will be continued to-night and new features will be added to make it more enjoyable.

All Thanked For Their Assistance.

The executive board of the Home for the Sick wish to return thanks to the following parties who rendered such valuable assistance at the recent lawn party: J. C. Rawn, for use of the Crystal Spring Park; R. H. Soule, for use of headlight; Roanoke Machine Works Band, one night's free concert; Mr. and Mrs. Stormfeltz, kindness and assistance given in making all arrangements at the park; Stone Printing Company, Copper & Stone, Massie & Martin, E. H. Stewart Furniture Co., Donaldson Furniture Co., Andrews, Boone & Engleby, Chas. T. Lukens, crockery loaned; Electric Light and Power Co., Street Railway Co., Sands' Transfer Co. for reduced rates.

Light Police Court Docket Yesterday.

Judge Turner opened court yesterday morning with a light docket. Annie Graves, for disorderly conduct, deposited $2.50 into the city treasury. Robert Bowyer and Chas. Thornton paid $2 for fast driving. Scott Thornton was accused of stealing a scarf pin, but the evidence not being strong enough he was dismissed. Sallie Buckley, drunk and disorderly, was fined $3.50. Jim Loun, charged with striking Wm. Watts with a stone, was fined $10. Mrs. Gertrude Prosser, charged with assault, was dismissed.

Linkenholder Will Undoubtedly Recover.

Citizens from the vicinity of Amsterdam who were in the city yesterday gave the information that the condition of Matthew Linkenholder, who was injured by Dr. Bowyer last week, was improved, and there is now little doubt that the injuries were not so dangerous or serious as they were at first supposed to be.

A Painful Wound.

Richard Jones, an employee of the Roanoke Machine Works, had the misfortune to have a large splinter driven entirely through his finger, inflicting a very painful wound, yesterday. Prompt surgical attention was rendered, the splinter extracted and amputation was rendered unnecessary.

Dr. Acree Will Say Good-By Sunday.
